The United States Quarantine Station here has received a circular letter from the Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital Corps asking for a collection of specimens of mosquitoes in Honolulu. These are wanted for the purpose of making a thorough study of the various kinds of mosquitoes to determine the nature and extent of their instrumentality in conveying dangerous or deadly diseases.

Ballots sent to the other islands have been recalled owing to an error in form. Secretary Carter had arranged candidates names in two or three columns with a view to obtaining more convenient dimensions of the ballot. Attorney General Andrews believes that in this the Secretary inadvertently sacrificed legal correctness to appearance and convenience, as the law requires a certain margin to the left of all the names.
